

Mines and Minerals

A Russian "pood" of gold is $10,000.

The average California loss of quick-silver is about one pound to every fifty tons of ore.

The force in the mine and mill at Albemarle has been reduced considerably. It will be but temporary.

Mining in the Cochiti district will be attracting attention from all parts of the country before many weeks are past.

John Sevier, for sometime past employed as assayer for the company at Albemarle, has left for San Diego, Cal.

Limestone is a "mineral" within the meaning of the United States mining law, and may be located and patented as a mining claim.

The Golden Fleece mine tunnel, near Lake City, Colo., is lighted by electricity, incandescent lamps being set 100 feet apart through its entire length.

The first gold mine in the United States is stated to have been the Barringer, Stanley county, North Carolina, a placer mine that later paid as a quartz claim.

A mining location made by agent without actually going on the claim to post the notice is legal. If signed by the locator, an agent can post it on the claim and witness the posting.

Frank Powers, owner of the World's Fair mine, telegraphs the Tucson Star that he has not sold that mine, as was reported some time ago. The report was in general circulation that the mine had passed into the hands of John Brockman for a consideration of $500,000.

The Michigan-New Mexico Copper company is getting out some fine copper ore from its properties in the Burros and Lordsburg mining districts in Grant county. In the Virginia district property the ore runs 15 per cent copper and in the Burros district 11 per cent copper, with a few dollars worth of gold and silver per ton in both.

Lambert & Peterson have returned to Cooney, Socorro county, from their tellurium gold prospect on the Little Dry creek and have resumed work on the iron group on the Whitewater slope. A crosscut at the bottom of a seventy foot shaft, sunk at the junction of the Iron Crown and Iron Bar veins, shows a width of mineral for seventeen feet which will average $20 to the ton.

A number of mining capitalists and brokers have visited Lake Valley the last week. Among them was Mr. Jeffries, a mining man and expert from Leadville, Colo.; Mr. Mululen, a banker from Colorado Springs, and Mr. Dale, a mining man of vast experience and who is backed by unlimited capital. They left Lake Valley on Friday for El Paso and expect to return within the next thirty days and commence operations on property adjoining the Mines company.

The White Oaks Eagle says that the mining situation at Estey City is improving right along. The Estey City Milling company has something like 2,000 tons of gold ore on the dump awaiting the completion of their reduction plant, and just recently the company opened a thirty foot vein which gives every promise of permanency. There are many leads near the surface containing pay ore in large quantities, and the company has adopted the contract plan in mining this surface ore. Other work in the camp is being vigorously pushed, and the outlook for 1902 is indeed bright.

The Herald says: Bland, like most other mining camps, experiences periods of comparative dullness. But these spells are merely temporary and often come to manufacturing and commercial cities as well. The future of Bland as one of the leading mining towns of the southwest is assured, for the money already expended in developing and prospecting its vast ore bodies, the machinery that has gone into the mills, and the large expenditures made for the thorough exploiting of its mineral wealth are assurances that the camp is not one built by a temporary boom, to be forgotten as soon as richer ore deposits are discovered elsewhere.

IN A NEW SPHERE.

The New Woman as an Active Superintendent of a Big Mine.

There are many trades, professions and business enterprises in which woman is represented in this day and generation, and often with marked success and eminent distinction. There are numerous cattle queens, plenty of women who own or have a controlling interest in mining properties, and occasionally a woman with pick and shovel braves the hardships of a new mining district, and favored by her lucky star strikes it rich and comes out with a fortune. But it is something quite unusual for a woman to take hold of a producing mining property, look after the details of the work—assume at once the duties of owner, superintendent and manager of a mine. But this is just the position occupied at the present time by Mrs. W. D. Luce, who with her husband owns the Castle Dome lead mines, located 30 miles northeast of Yuma. Mr. Luce, on account of bad health, was compelled to give up the management of the property some months ago and seek a change of climate. Since that time his wife has had the entire management of the property and has been remarkably successful. She acts in the capacity of superintendent and knows every detail of the mining operations, besides looking after the ore shipments and attending to every interest of the property as cheaply as her husband. Mrs. Luce is in reality a mining expert; there is no crook or turn in handling a mine of which she has not a practical knowledge, and few are the mining terms, scientific or otherwise, which she has not at her tongue's end. The Castle Dome property is the only exclusive lead proposition being operated in the territory, and is understood to be making its owners some money.—Yuma, Arizona, Sentinel.

WINSLOW NEWS.

Elks Will Give a Ball—Scarlet Fever Scare—Other Items.

Special Correspondence.
Winslow, Ariz., Jan. 26.—Frank Zuck, formerly of Holbrook, has opened a butcher shop in Winslow in the Booth block and is doing a good business. Another butcher shop has been needed here and the people of Winslow welcome Mr. Zuck and wish him prosperity.

The B. P. O. E. lodge, No. 536, has decided to spend some of their surplus money in the treasury by giving a grand ball on the night of February 14. This ball is for Elks, and two visitors each and will be one of the grandest affairs of the season. Invitations and no charge at the door will be the order.

Judge Mahoney says business is slack this week. He has not a case in court.

We understand that Mrs. Harry Simms, of Albuquerque, and formerly of this city, intends returning and opening up a millinery store—a business much needed here. Come; we all wear hats.

School closed down this week on account of the scarlet fever scare, but there doesn't seem to be any reason for it, as the disease is still confined to two places in town and well taken care of by Drs. Sampson and Tillet.

Professor Mickey is taking advantage of his little vacation and is getting his house and lot fenced.

Harry Anderson, the brickmaker, is putting an addition to his house. Harry will have a good house when done.

Harry Burbage, Navajo county's legal talent, and president of the Navajo county bank, was made glad this week by the return of his wife, who brought with her their son, Teddy, who has been in the hospital at Kansas City for nearly a year, undergoing operations caused by rheumatism. We were glad to see Teddy doing so well and hope he will continue to get better.

The round house whistle sounded the alarm of fire Thursday about noon. On investigation it was found that a pile of ties was on fire back of the round house. By the prompt action of the company's fire brigade the fire was not allowed to spread.

Winslow lodge, No. 13, F. & A. M., has decided to improve the looks of their lodge room by having the same re-papered and lighted. Accordingly they have ordered a new gas machine and are having the hall piped for gas, and when done this lodge room would be a credit to any city of larger size, and second to none in the territory.

A Cure for Lumbago.

Louis Ph. Lettze, a well-known civil engineer and surveyor, of Buffalo, N. Y., writes as follows about the Albuquerque Weekly Citizen: "Having already received the third copy of your weekly, I can truly say that I find it a

More Harmful Than Alcohol

Overeating Worst Form of Intemperance.

If your food is undigested, you are underfed, no matter how much you eat. And the underfed man is, to the extent of the underfeeding, crippled for the battle of life. On the other hand, there is such a thing as overeating. The harm done by indigestion caused by overloaded stomachs exceeds that from the increased heart beats caused by the use of alcohol or whiskey.

Eat as much good food as you need but don't overload the stomach. If your stomach is weak it may refuse to digest what you eat. Then you ought to use a good digestant like Kodol Dyspepsia Cure, which digests what you eat without the stomach's aid. This rest and the wholesome tonics contained in Kodol Dyspepsia Cure soon restore health. You don't have to diet. Don't eat too much. That's harmful. But eat enough and of sufficient variety. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure will digest it. It quickly relieves the sensation of fullness and bloating from which some people suffer after meals. It prevents belching and absolutely cures indigestion and other stomach troubles. Equally good for children.

Lemuel James, Marysville, O., says: "I suffered from dyspepsia for thirty years but a few bottles of Kodol Dyspepsia Cure completely cured me and I heartily recommend it to all sufferers from this disease."

Do Not Delay.

The longer you delay in giving your weak stomach the aid it requires, the more serious becomes your condition. Obtain a bottle of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters at once, as it is the best medicine in the world for stomach complaints. It will tone up the system, steady the nerves and cure belching, flatulency, indigestion, dyspepsia and malaria, fever and ague.

very interesting paper for a city of your size and population.

"It gives me great pleasure to read it, but I should like to read your daily in order to see how your business men advertise their dealings and wares."

"I never failed to judge the business facilities of a city by the daily advertisements of a paper like yours."

"The city of Albuquerque is to be congratulated upon having such an able newspaper establishment and wide-awake weekly paper."

For Over Sixty Years.

An old and well tried remedy. Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup has been used for over sixty years by millions of mothers for their children while teething with perfect success. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic, and is the best remedy for diarrhoea. Is pleasant to the taste. Sold by druggists in every part of the world. Twenty-five cents a bottle. Its value is incalculable. Be sure and ask for Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup, and take no other kind.

GRAVEL WALKS.

Editors Citizen.

There seems to be a misapprehension relative to gravel walks on the part of some. They say that gravel is difficult to walk on, etc. Certainly loose gravel is, but a lot of loose gravel thrown on the ground is not a gravel walk, as is a lot of cement thrown along the street is not a cement walk. Gravel walks, as those of other materials, should be constructed according to plans and specifications, and then they should be nearly as hard and smooth as cement walks and are much more durable.

The street or walk should be filled nearly to grade just the same as for cement or brick walks, and then either brick or plank curbing should be put in, then filled with common soil; then add a good coating of adobe or clay and on this spread your gravel. Now sprinkle and pack or roll hard and then remove all surplus gravel and, if properly made, the walk can be swept the same as any other, and it can be used during a shower with not as much danger of getting wet feet as from cement or plank.

I would have no more wooden walks, as they are very unsanitary, unsightly and only temporary, while the street is not filled or improved in the least.

Certainly, if the owners desire to put in cement or brick, it should be permitted but not plank.

Messrs. Field, Pearce, Bryan, Torrison and I have gravel walks and they answer every purpose.

Almost anyone can build or repair gravel walks, while only experts at much cost can build or repair cement. Not a dollar goes out of the city for gravel or brick, while thousands go out never to return for cement.

STERILIZED BARBER SHOP.

A Famous Shop in the Carrollton Hotel at Baltimore, Md.

The barber shop in the Carrollton hotel at Baltimore sterilizes everything it uses in the shop. The sterilizing is done by heat. The towels, the razors, the strops, the soap, the combs and brushes are all sterilized before being used on a customer. Where there is no sterilization, have the barber use Newbro's Herpicide. It kills the dandruff germ and it is an antiseptic for the scalp and for the face after shaving. All leading barbers everywhere appreciate these potent facts about Herpicide and they use it. "Destroy the cause, you remove the effect."

CHICKEN INDUSTRY.

The Citizen's Poultry Editor Gives His Views.

TOUCHING INCUBATION.

The chicken industry has been sadly neglected in New Mexico. No farmer, gardener, ranch owner and resident with a little lot of ground should not be without a flock of chickens. They are not only good to lay eggs and produce meat, but are useful in a great many other ways. To the city resident they are health officers to a certain extent; they pick up all the crumbs that are swept off of the table; they consume all the refuse around the premises, and keep your lawn, fruit and shade trees free from insects and vermin. A hen is as good around the barn as a good cat to keep away the mice and roaches. They also pulverize and refine the manure for the garden and save all the grain wasted by the stock. A small flock turned in a garden plot in the spring will not only rid the ground of insects but will fertilize the soil. The territory imports every year something like twenty thousand cases of eggs and fifteen thousands pounds of flesh. Statistics show that the Kansas hen produced more wealth in the last ten years than has the wheat crop. Eggs sell as low there as six cents a dozen, while here ranch eggs are never worth less than twenty-five cents a dozen. We pay in the winter thirty and thirty-five cents for eggs that are bought in Kansas in the summer for six and seven cents. The produce business in Kansas has become one of the leading industries. Cold storage and ice plants are found in all the large cities. These institutions send buyers to the country towns where they establish shipping stations. These shipping stations send buyers into the country to gather the produce from the farmers who get cash or grocery scrip in exchange. In a great many cases the farmer's wife keeps up the table with the proceeds from the flock and has enough over at the end of the year to buy Christmas presents. The farmer has realized a good profit. The country buyer gets a good commission, and sub-station agent gets a good salary. When the eggs reach the cold storage house they are tested before being put away to keep until they can be sold at a good profit. They are tested again and shipped to their final destination. At each test eggs showing the least speck are culled out and sold as seconds. By the time the eggs reach this territory they have passed through a half dozen different persons hands, and each one has made a reasonable profit.

INCUBATION.

The incubator has proven equal to the hen in only a few cases, and in these cases no expense has been spared in preparing for the hatching and brooding of little chickens. At St. Joseph, Missouri, the Armour people have a chicken ranch which is said to be the finest in the United States. It is not so difficult to hatch the eggs if they are healthy, as it is to brood and raise them to a sturdy age.

The brooder of a small scale which has proved the most successful is a cemented cellar with glass on the south slant of the roof. The heat is furnished by an oil lamp or stove which are easily regulated.

CAPONS FOR PROFIT.

This branch of the chicken business has been found to be the most profitable. A capon is a castrated rooster. The operation can be performed by anybody with good eyes and a little practice. Instruments can be had at most any of the large eastern cities at a cost of about $3 a set. A book of instructions can be obtained with each set of instruments. The operation is best performed when the cockerel is about six weeks old and weighs about one and a half pounds. The chicken then grows to an extra large size, gets very fat. The flesh of the capon is finer than that of a hen and brings a much better price.

The Plymouth Rock is considered the best all purpose chicken because of its quick growth, size, quality of flesh, quiet manners and are sturdy when young. The Langshang breed is considered the best for caponizing purposes, because their bones are prominent and they have very few feathers at the age for operation.

Child Worth Millions.

"My child is worth millions to me," says Mrs. Mary Bird, of Harrisburg, Pa., "yet I would have lost her by croup had I not purchased a bottle of One Minute Cough Cure." One Minute Cough Cure is sure cure for coughs, croup and throat and lung troubles. An absolutely safe cough cure which acts immediately. The youngest child can take it with entire safety. The little ones like the taste and remember how often it helped them. Every family should have a bottle of One Minute Cough Cure handy. At this season especially it may be needed suddenly.
